Pummeled by Russian offensive in the east, Ukraine rules out ceasefire

REUTERS Kyiv, May 22

UKRAINE RULED OUT a ceasefire or any territorial concessions to Moscow while Russia intensified its attack in the eastern Donbas region and stopped sending gas to Finland in its latest response to Western sanctions and its deepening international isolation.

Polish president Andrzej Duda told Ukraine's parliament that ceding even "one inch" of the country's territory would be a blow to the whole West and reassured Kyiv of Warsaw's strong backing for its European Union membership bid.

"Worrying voices have appeared, saying that Ukraine should give in to (President Vladimir) Putin's demands," Duda said, the first foreign leader to address Ukrainian lawmakers in person since Russia's February 24 invasion. "Only Ukraine has the right to decide about its future."

On the Donetsk frontline, Russian forces were trying to break through Ukrainian defences to reach the administrative borders of the Luhansk region, while further north they continued heavy shelling of Sievierodonetsk and Lysychansk, Ukraine's general staff said in its daily update on Sunday.

Sievierodonetskanditstwin Lysychansk across the Siverskiy Donets River form the eastern part of a Ukrainian-held pocket that Russia has been trying to overrun since mid-April after failing to capture Kyivand shifting its focus to the east and south of the country.

The British Defence Ministry said on Sunday that Russia was deploying its BMP-T "Terminator" tank-support vehicles in that offensive. With only 10 available for a unit that already suffered heavy losses in the failed attempt on Kyiv, however, the ministry said they were "unlikely to have a significant impact." Ukraine's lead negotiator, speaking to Reuters on Saturday, ruled out a ceasefire or any deal with Moscow that involved ceding territory. Making concessions would backfire because Russia would hit back harder after any break in fighting, Zelenskiy's adviser Mykhailo Podolyak said.

"The war will not stop. It will just be put on pause for some time," Podolyak said in an interview in the heavily guarded presidential office. "They'll start a new offensive, even more bloody and large-scale."

Recent calls for an immediate ceasefire have come from US defense secretary Lloyd Austin and Italian prime minister Mario Draghi. The end of fighting in Mari-upol, the biggest city Russia has captured, gives Russian President Vladimir Putin a rare victory after a series of setbacks in nearly three months of combat.

The last Ukrainian forces holed up Mariupol's vast Azovstal steelworks have surrendered, the Russian defence ministry said on Friday.

Amazon aims to sublet, end leases of warehouse

BLOOMBERG May 22

STUCK AMAZON.COM, WITH too much warehouse capacity now that the surge in pandemic-era shopping has faded, is looking to sublet at least 10 million square feet of space and could vacate even more by ending leases with landlords, according to people familiar with the situation. The excess capacity includes warehouses in New York, New Jersey, Southern California and Atlanta, said the people, who requested anonymity because they're not authorised to speak about the deals. The surfeit of space could far exceed 10 million square feet, two of the people said, with one saying it could be triple that. Another person close to the deliberations said a final estimate on the square footage to be vacated hasn't been reached and that the figure remains in flux.

Amazon could try to negotiate lease terminations with existing landlords, including Prologis, an industrial real estate developer that counts the ecommerce giant as its biggest tenant, two of the people said.

In a sign that Amazon is being careful not to cut too deeply should demand quickly rebound, the 10 million square feet the company is looking to sublet is roughly equivalent to about 12 of its largest fulfillment centers or about 5% of the square footage added during the pandemic. In another signal that Amazon is hedging its bets, some of the sublet terms would last just one or two years.

The company declined to say which space it plans to sublet or confirm the amount.

"Subleasing is a very common real estate practice," spokeswoman Alisa Carroll said. "It allows us to relieve the financial obligations associated with an existing building that no longer meets our needs. Subleasing is something many established corporations do to help manage their real estate portfolio."

Prologis declined to com-

Amazon spooked investors last month after reporting slowing growth and a weak profit outlook that it attributed to overbuilding during the pandemic when homebound shoppers stormed online. At the end of 2021, Amazon leased 370 million sq ft of industrial space in its home market, twice as much as it had two years earlier.

In the April earnings report the company said it expected the excess space to contribute to $10 billion in extra costs in the first half of 2022. The company didn't divulge how much over-capacity it had, where it was located or what it planned to do with it.

Amazon tasked the real estate firm KBCAdvisors to evaluate the warehouse network and determine where to sublet and where to terminate leases two of the people said. Both options carry costs. Subletting warehouse space requires Amazon to remove all of its equipment so the new occupant can tailor it to their own needs.

Biden says 'hello' to N. Korea's Kim amid tensions over weapons tests

REUTERS Seoul, May 22

US PRESIDENT JOE Biden, in Seoul before heading to Japan as part of his first Asia trip as president, had a simple message for North Korea's Kim Jong Un: "Hello... period," he told reporters on the last day of his visit to South Korea on Sunday.

Biden said he was "not concerned" about new North Korean nuclear tests, which would be the first in nearly five

But his wry response when asked what message he had for Kim underscored the administration's low-key approach to the unresolved tensions with North Korea. It is a stark contrast with former president Donald Trump's showy threats, summits, and "love letters" with Kim.

Neither president's approach has led to a major breakthrough, however, and North Korea has resumed testing its largest intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs), while intelligence reports suggest it is preparing for a new nuclear test.

"We are prepared for anything North Korea does," Biden said. A day earlier, Biden and his new South Korean counterpart, President Yoon Suk-yeol, agreed to consider bigger military exercises and potentially deploying more nuclear-capable American weapons to the region in response to the North's weapons day, noting that he was willing to sit down with Kim if he thought it would lead to a serious breakthrough.

Covid-19 restrictions may be playing a role in North Korea's lack of response, a senior US administration official said. North Korea has said the US overtures are insincere because Washington maintains "hostile policies" such as military drills and sanctions. When asked whether Biden was willing to take concrete steps to break the stalemate, the official said that the administration was looking for serious engagement, not grand gestures. "This is a decision that only the DPRK can make," the official said, using the initials of North Korea's official name.

At a US air base south of Seoul, Biden and Yoon toured an air operations centre. American and South Korean troops, behind large computer projectors showing maps of the border separating North and South Korea, are tasked with defending against any missiles the North might launch.

Yoon said such facilities are important given "increasing" threats from North Korea.

Regional team-building

Biden's focus during the trip has been on rallying "likeminded" democracies to cooperate more, part of broader efforts to counter China's rising influence and exert pressure on Russia over its war in Ukraine.

Biden will meet with leaders of Japan, India and Australia, a grouping known as the Quad, another cornerstone of his strategy to push back against China's expanding influence.

On the second leg of the trip,

Yoon has shown interest in working more closely with the Quad, but the US official said there was no consideration of adding Seoul to the group. "It's natural... to think about ways in which you can work with other like-minded democracies, but I think it's also important to recognise that the goal right now is to develop and build out what has already been laid out," the official said. Tokyowill also see the launch on Monday of Biden's longawaited Indo-Pacific Economic Frameworkfor Prosperity (IPEF), a programme intended to bind regional countries more closely via common standards in areas including supply-chain resilience, clean energy, infrastructure and digital trade.

The US official declined to identify which countries might sign on to the IPEF, but said they were satisfied with "very strong interest"throughout the region in participating.

Pak's ex-PM Khan calls for protests to force elections

BLOOMBERG May 22

RECENTLY OUSTED PAK-ISTANI Prime Minister Imran Khan asked his supporters to march on Islamabad, the nation's capital, for a sit-in on May 25 as a way to press the government to quit and call new elections. Khan's move is likely to fuel further political instability already facing an economic crisis from rising inflation. At a Sunday press conference in Peshawar, the former cricket star urged his backers to protest for as long as needed. Khan recently has held a series of rallies — aimed at channeling anger against the government of new prime minister Shehbaz Sharif — drawing massive crowds across the country.

"We will not accept this government," said Khan. "We will sit in Islamabad until they dissolve the assemblies and announce a date for elections that are transparent and without any foreign interference." Khan, 69, was ousted in April after a no-confidence vote in parliament. He blamed the US for "conspiring" to engineer his downfall, a claim the administration of President Joe Biden has rejected.

The former leader's plan puts the new government on the defensive as it attempts to deal with mounting public angerfrom Asia's second-fastest rate of inflation, currently behind only Sri Lanka. Pakistan's foreign exchange reserves of $10.2 billion are enough to cover less than two months of imports, stocks have tumbled 6% in a month, and its currency is trading at a record low of 200 rupees to the US dollar.

Pakistan's international bonds due in 2031 fell to a record low on Thursday amid investor concerns the government's hesitation to take unpopular steps like raising fuel prices will delay an IMF bailout.

Khan's call to his followers comes as Pakistan is working to negotiate the remainder of a suspended $6 billion loan program with the International Monetary Fund that's needed to request for a comment. Pakistan is scheduled to hold general elections in August 2023 when the National Assem bly, the lower house of the parliament, completes its five-year term. Khan came to power in 2018 after an election where it was widely believed he had the support of the nation's powerful military. However, that backing dwindled by the time the opposition challenged Khan's majority in parliament. Protests are not new for his Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party, which sees itself as a disruptor on the South Asian nation's political scene.
